The Kentucky Law Journal is the tenth oldest law review published by the nation's law schools. Publication has been continuous since 1913. Four issues are published annually by the University of Kentucky, College of Law. The Journal is edited entirely by a student editorial board, with guidance from a faculty advisor. Each issue contains articles written by prominent national scholars and notes written by Journal members encompassing a broad range of legal topics.

Each Journal is published and distributed beginning with the first issue in November, the second in December, the third in February and the final issue of the subscription in April. With certain exceptions, the subscription cost is $42.00 per year for subscribers outside the Commonwealth of Kentucky, $44.52 for subscriptions originating within Kentucky (which includes 6% sales tax) and $47.00 for foreign subscribers.
